Dear Hiring Team

Kia Ora! I am Han Qin. I graduated with a Master's in Software Development from Lincoln University in November 2023 and currently hold a three-year post-study visa. With nearly four years of development experience, I am seeking a developer position to kickstart my career in New Zealand (any location works for me). Upon discovering an opening for a Developer at your company on seek.co.nz, I found that my background aligns perfectly with the job requirements, prompting me to submit my resume. I am confident that after reviewing my application, you will consider me a fitting candidate. Let me briefly introduce my professional skills, personality, and interests to give you an initial understanding of my background.

Regarding my professional skills, I possess a broad and rich technical stack (details can be found in my resume). I am proficient in .NET Core and React, with a deep understanding and application of their underlying principles and mechanisms. My project experience is extensive, including online education platforms, online pet hospitals, and e-commerce platforms, among others. These experiences have honed my coding skills, enhanced my communication abilities, and underscored the importance of teamwork. Currently, I can independently handle medium-sized projects from requirement analysis, architectural design, backend development, frontend page writing, to cloud server Docker deployment. However, this doesn't mean I'm a lone wolf; on the contrary, I value communication and believe in the power of teamwork.

Personality-wise, I'm a cheerful coder who loves immersing myself in code, experiencing the flow that comes with total engagement in my work. I enjoy communicating with others, especially sharing technical knowledge at work, which helps systematize my knowledge and learn from others, adding immense value. I understand the significance of effective communication. During project development, I maintain close daily communication with team members to ensure everyone is on the same page regarding the project's current status and future direction. Through regular meetings and instant messaging tools, we discuss issues and share progress, ensuring transparency and smooth project progress.

In conclusion, I am excited about the possibility of joining your team and contributing to your company's success. I am confident that my skills, experience, and enthusiasm make me a strong candidate for this position. I look forward to the opportunity to discuss how I can be a valuable asset to your team. Thank you for considering my application.

Kind regards,

Han Qin